The Third Epistle Of John

A Study Guide With Introductory Comments, Summaries, And Review Questions

This material is from ExecutableOutlines.com, a web site containing sermon outlines and Bible studies by Mark A. Copeland. Visit the web site to browse or download additional material for church or personal use.

The outlines were developed in the course of my ministry as a preacher of the gospel. Feel free to use them as they are, or adapt them to suit your own personal style.

To God Be The Glory!

Executable Outlines, Copyright © Mark A. Copeland, 2011
The Third Epistle Of John

Table Of Contents

Introduction 3
Chapter One 5

This study guide was designed for adult Bible classes, though it might be suitable for junior and senior high classes as well. Some have used it for personal devotions, and others in small study groups.

• Points to ponder for each chapter are things I emphasize during the class.

• Review questions are intended to reinforce key thoughts in each chapter. That you might know what answers were intended by the questions, I have included them in this guide. There is a “student edition” available with answers deleted.
The Third Epistle Of John

Introduction

What was the early church like? We know a lot about its early leaders, such as apostles Paul and Peter; but what about the average Christians themselves? Were they more spiritual than Christians today? Did they experience the kind of problems seen so often in churches today?

Several books of the New Testament reflect the life of the early church, and this is especially true of The Third Epistle of John. It is a private letter, between "The Elder" and a Christian named Gaius. It provides portraits of three different men, and in so doing gives us a glimpse of 1st century life in local churches.

When one examines the portraits found in this letter, we learn that there is not much difference between people back then, and in the church today. Therefore this epistle is very relevant, though we may live almost 2000 years later.

Author

"The Elder" (3Jn 1:1) is believed by most conservative scholars to be the apostle John. The internal evidence for the third epistle is similar to that of the second:

- The three epistles of John utilize much the same language and ideas
- All bear similarity to concepts and language to the Gospel of John
- The term "elder" would be a fitting description of John as the author, writing in his old age

The external evidence is slight, but Dionysius of Alexandria, living in the third century A.D., credits John with being the author.

Recipient

The epistle is addressed to "beloved Gaius". Gaius was a common Roman name, and appears five times in the New Testament (Ac 19:29; 20:4; Ro 16:23; 1Co 1:14; 3Jn 1:1). Whether he is one of those mentioned by Luke or Paul cannot be determined. He was evidently a dear friend of John, known for his hospitality (more below).

Place and Date

Ephesus is usually suggested as the location from which John wrote this epistle, as he was known to live there in the later years of his life. Estimation of the date of writing varies widely, some placing it before the destruction of Jerusalem (70 A.D.). Most however place it around 90-95 A.D.

Purpose and Theme

The purpose of the epistle is threefold, related to the three men mentioned by name:

- To confirm that Gaius did right in supporting those teachers who came his way, encouraging him to continue this hospitality - 3Jn 1:5-8
• To express his condemnation of Diotrephes for rejecting John and others whom he should have received - 3Jn 1:9-10

• To encourage Gaius to imitate what is good, commending Demetrius as a good example - 3Jn 1:11-12

As for the theme, with the examples of the three men preserved for us in this letter, let me suggest one based on the words of John in verse 11:

Do not imitate what is evil, but what is good

Outline
Here is a simple outline of the book...

Greetings, with an expression of great joy (1-4)
The confirmation of Gaius (5-8)
The condemnation of Diotrephes (9-10)
The commendation of Demetrius (11-12)
Concluding remarks (13-14)

Review Questions

1) Who is author of The Third Epistle Of John?
   - The Elder, likely John the apostle who wrote the gospel of John

2) Who was the recipient of this epistle?
   - The beloved Gaius, identity otherwise unknown

3) When was it written? From where?
   - Most date it from 90-95 A.D.; Ephesus

4) What has been suggested as its threefold purpose?
   - To confirm Gaius did right
   - To condemn Diotrephes for doing wrong
   - To commend Demetrius as a good example

5) What has been suggested as its theme?
   - Do not imitate what is evil, but what is good

6) What are the main divisions of this epistle as outlined above?
   - Greetings, with an expression of great joy (1-4)
   - The confirmation of Gaius (5-8)
   - The condemnation of Diotrephes (9-10)
   - The commendation of Demetrius (11-12)
   - Concluding remarks (13-14)

---

ExecutableOutlines.com
The Third Epistle Of John

Chapter One

John greets Gaius, praying for his prosperity and health, rejoicing to hear that he is walking in truth (1-4). John approves his hospitality toward brethren and strangers, especially those serving the Lord (5-8). John condemns the deeds of Diotrephes (9-10), commends the testimony of Demetrius (11-12), and concludes with a hope to see Gaius soon (13-14).

Points To Ponder

• The joy of seeing one’s converts growing in Christ
• The importance of hospitality in the spread of the gospel
• The contrast between spirituality and carnality among Christians

Review Questions

1) What are the main points of this chapter?
   - Greetings, with an expression of great joy - 3Jn 1:1-4
   - The confirmation of Gaius - 3Jn 1:5-8
   - The condemnation of Diotrephes - 3Jn 1:9-10
   - The commendation of Demetrius - 3Jn 1:11-12
   - Concluding remarks - 3Jn 1:13-14

2) To whom is this epistle addressed? (1)
   - The beloved Gaius

3) For what does John pray in behalf of Gaius? (2)
   - That he may prosper and be in health, just as his soul prospers

4) What gave John his greatest joy? (4)
   - To hear that his children walk in truth

5) For what does John praise Gaius? (5-7)
   - His kindness toward brethren and strangers, especially those serving the Lord

6) What benefit do we receive when we support those who serve the Lord? (8)
   - We become fellow workers for the truth

7) Of what was Diotrephes guilty? (9-10)
   - Seeking preeminence, refusing to receive John
   - Prating against him with malicious words
   - Refusing to receive brethren, putting out of the church those who do

8) What exhortation does John give to Gaius? Who does he commend? (11-12)
   - Do not imitate what is evil, but what is good; Demetrius, for his good testimony